Excerpt: . . . are put branches of the tree called Fanna-siba, and other beautiful flowers, and care is taken to keep lanterns lighted up for two days and three nights. On the morning of the 14th, the jug of water is taken away, and small cups full of tea are placed in its stead; these are filled twice or thrice a day for each tablet; before which also are set two plates, covered with boiled rice and other kinds of food, the one for breakfast and the other for dinner. In the interval between these two meals, various sorts of dainties, as laksak, cakes, stewed mansi, sugar-loaves, -c, are, placed before the tablet. Towards evening they begin to light lanterns before each si-sek, or stone erected over the graves in the burial grounds; they are suspended from long bamboos laid across two sticks, and burn till ten...

Reviews

This book is definitely not straightforward to get started on studying but extremely exciting to read. It is really simplistic but shocks in the 50 percent of the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
